Beau McClellan returns to the Light Middle East show, which opens on May 25, in Dubai with a range of signature light installations for the German light giant Brumberg.

These are exclusive to the show and bring a rare opportunity to the visitors to see one of the most inspired yet functional lighting designs: the 2008 Beau for Brumberg light ranges - GLOW, REVEAL, REFLECT, RAY & ONE.

"I'm excited to be here. There is such a potent creative energy in this place right now. It enthuses and inspires designers and architects", said McClellan, who has designed and installed several installations in the Middle East over the past few months.

McClellan has developed a flair for combining the latest lighting techniques with premium, sustainable materials, in his beautiful and meaningful light creations; these in turn have been hugely acclaimed by the industry and public alike.

The industry success has been proven time and again: 4 Red Dot Product Design awards he won in 2007, second prize at the 2008 Light of the Year Awards, and recently a nomination for the prestigious Design Pries 2008.

Equally, McClellan caught the eye of some very discerning customers across the region, looking to surround themselves with innovative luminaries, of amazing forms, and fascinating material compositions. Actually he's currently busy finalising the fabrication and installation of the world's largest chandelier, for one of his region based customers.

Come to the Brumberg Stand L1606 in Zabeel Hall at the DWTC and be inspired.

Light Middle East is the region's only dedicated show for architectural lighting. It runs from May 25 - 27 at the Dubai International Convention and Exhibition Centre.
